OVERCROWDING IN DORMS

New housing in 1973

by Mike Bohl

If this college could find ways of housing about 25 per cent of its 12,500-plus students on the campus, it might be able to control the quality and rental price of off-campus housing. So says Robert Bostrom, director of housing. Right now housing fees are so high because the demand for living space is acute, he continued.

"Even with only 10 per cent of the college students living in the resident halls," reported Bostrom, "the halls are still overcrowded." Bostrom explained his problem by saying that there are currently 20 students living in study rooms that have been converted into bedrooms.

Bostrom continued, "So far this year only 16 students have canceled." Of the 16 cancellations, 14 of them have been men while only two have been women. Bostrom felt that the reasons for the unbalanced proportion is because more women are put through college by their parents. "Men, on-the-other-hand, generally pay for their own education and are less financially secure," he said.

"The main reasons people have been canceling," reported Bostrom, "are either financial need, medical problems, a change in their marital or draft status or that they decide to transfer to another school."

Filling over 100 per cent of its available on campus living spaces, this college is leading all California State Colleges concerning resident hall occupancy. Fresno State College, for example, is filling only 85 per cent of its on campus housing facilities while San Francisco State is using a mere 54 per cent of its rooms.

"The capacity of our resident halls are 2,145 in the permanent halls, 55 in the temporary halls, 163 in College Avenue housing, a few people in areas such as the firehouse, swine units and auto shop," said Bostrom. These areas, nevertheless, will not be the only areas that will house students in the future. Two projects are underway that will produce additional student housing. Construction of a new campus resident hall will begin this January while another off campus apartment complex will be constructed for married students, and will be completed next year.

Bostrom added, "If we are providing students with only a bed and a roof we are failing. Our objective is to make them feel at home."

Financed by the Housing and Urban Development (HUD) Program, the new resident hall between Yosemite and Tenaya Halls will take two years to complete. According to Executive Dean Douglas Gerard, "We hope this new complex, which will be similar to Yosemite, will be done by fall of 1972. But chances are that it will not be completed until 1973." The new on campus resident hall will hold 600 students and consist of six towers, each containing 100 people. "It will differ from Yosemite," added Bostrom, "in the respect that it has six towers to Yosemite's 10. It will have only one bathroom per floor instead of two and the acoustics will be better than those in Yosemite."

Construction of the hall, which may be called Sierra Madre, if it is approved by College Pres. Robert Kennedy, will begin as soon as the college receives clearances that fulfill federal requirements.

Another new student housing facility is in the advanced planning stages. This complex will be for married couples and act as temporary housing for instructors. Located on a 30 acre triangular parcel of land that is right off Highway 1, just north of the California State Forestry Station in San Luis Obispo.

Jane Garlinger, a sophomore from Salinas who is majoring in Child Development was chosen as Queen of the 1970 Homecoming following two days of voting.

Float theme reflects child

For the past twenty-two years, the two Cal Poly campuses have built floats for the Pasadena Tournament of Roses Parade. The floats, which have always been animated, have become a tradition to parade viewers. In the last five years, the float entries have won five of the top awards.

The float, from conception to flower growing, is taken care of by students. The knowledge of mechanics, electronics, flower growing, and design, comes directly from the students in the corresponding departments at the colleges.

This year's float theme, "Once Upon a Dream," adheres to the overall parade theme, "Through the Eyes of a Child." The theme winner, Rick Patterson, is a senior in data processing at the Pomona campus. Ron Shimamoto, the design winner, is a graduate architect student from this campus.

Briefly, the float design is a child lying in bed asleep. A clock strikes twelve, waking a toy soldier who, in turn, fires his cannon, which wakes the boy. The boy pushes back his blanket, and rubs his eyes in total amazement, as he sees the toy drummer, jack-in-the-box, and some other toys "living" and moving. The entire arrangement will be automated.

The float will be decorated with a wide variety of flowers. The boy's hair will be composed of orange Cocks Comb, his eyes will be made from blue Bachelor Buttons, and his face and hands will be covered with flesh colored gladiolas. Yellow, white and violet mums will form the blanket pattern. The boy's dog will be made from pampas grass blooms, and coco palm husks. The base of the float will contain various colored roses, in a bed of green fern. The toys and blocks will be decorated with Bells of Ireland, Birds of Paradise, carnations, Vanda orchids, calendulas, mums, poinsettias, and gladiolas.

This week, the Rose Parade Float Committee will begin their annual Donation Drive which will run through Nov. 26. A drawing will take place at the Pomona campus football game on Thanksgiving Day. Tickets will cost 25 cents each, or $2.25 for a book of ten. The winner will receive a choice of two tickets to the Rose Bowl game, two tickets to the Rose Parade, or the cash equivalent. All funds collected will go to help building the float.

BSU seeks cheerleaders

Members of the Black Students Union have proposed that a black cheering group be formed that can travel to all California basketball games to support the Mustangs. In a meeting of the Rally Committee last night, the proposal was passed to represent the BSU before the finance committee in an effort to attain $872 to finance the proposed Black cheering squad.

According to Rob Erickson, chairman of Rally Committee, members of the BSU seeking to become cheerleaders are not an organized group as such and cannot legally ask for funds. Rally Committee as an organized body will represent the BSU when the proposal comes before the Finance Committee Monday, October 26.

The BSU came before Rally Committee last Tuesday, October 20 with their proposal. It was then brought forth Wednesday at the general meeting.

The objectives proposed by the black cheerleaders are: for support of the Mustangs, to form an organization that can relate to the Black team members as well as the white team members and fans. According to an objective sheet put forth in the proposal, this is not an organization to gain power to take over Rally Club, nor to separate the races, but one to work with the Rally Club in gaining support of all the fans. Cheers will be supporting the team not one race only.

Walter Harris of the BSU was the spokesman for the Black cheerleaders.

Teamwork has been the secret of success for this school and Cal Poly Pomona in previous Rose Parades which are in Pasadena on New Year's Day, and this year appears to be the same. The design for the float for the 1971 parade entry by the two schools is "Once upon a Dream." It was designed by a Pomona student.

ROTC will stand firm

Why hasn't this college been affected by the nation-wide shutdown or cancellation of military installations and programs on college campuses? Apathy? Respect? Concern?

In a recent and informative discussion with the department head of this college's military science program, Colonel William Hastie, Mustang Daily learned that this institution has not and probably will not be plagued with the problems of bombings, burning and rioting by activists in the name of military oppression.

The reasons given by Hastie were easy enough to justify. First, students here respect the rights and freedoms of their fellow students. Second, the population of this college and its surrounding communities is here to better itself... not destroy itself. And third, what has ROTC done to deserve such criticism?

Hastie stated that the Reserve Officers Training Corps program is voluntary and fulfills one's military obligation. And the healthful attitude taken by students here has made this program work very well—harmony between all concerned being the program's main and most functional aspect.

The ROTC recruitment at this college has the largest enrollment of eleven army programs offered at California's colleges and universities. However, enrollment at our facility has dipped from 252 at the spring quarter's end to 211—a drop of almost 17 per cent. Why?

Hastie retorted by saying that the military draft lottery and the reduction of manpower (officers included) now needed is visibly less as being the two chief factors in the drop of ROTC enrollment. However, when asked if he felt ROTC would ever be abandoned, the colonel was adamant in his belief that it would not, and likewise it would never reach the level as low as it did in pre-W.W. II days.

The Military Science Department is also involved with (or sponsors) many organizations and clubs. The Scabbard and Blade, which is a social service unit, ushers at football games and sponsors the annual military ball. The proceeds are donated to a worthy cause—last year over $200 was sent abroad for a Vietnamese orphanage.

The Kaydettes Drill Team performs at football games and in parades. Its advisor is usually someone in the ROTC program. "Pioneer Days" in Paso Robles earlier this month is one of the many area and community activities the Kaydettes enriched.

Their next scheduled performance will be this Sunday at the Oakland Raider football game in Oakland.

The Military Drill Team is currently the reigning Californian champion, winning the title the last two years. The team will possibly march at the California regionals, at Tempe, Arizona (home of Arizona State University) and at the Lyloc Festival to be held this spring in Washington, D.C.

Also, there are plans to revitalize the Pistol Team in collaboration with the Marksmanship Training Unit, better known as the Rifle Club. Their firing area is an .22 caliber range located near the campus airfield.

Money for most bull

A registered Hereford bull consigned by this campus topped the Oct. 19 selling of trial bulls. The Lee Livestock Company of Elko, Nev., paid $3,000 for him.

The bull had earned a 120.6 performance index in the trial which ended Oct. 1, and received a 90.6 score in the consensus grading which preceded the sale.

The 54 test bulls averaged $695. In the 1969 auction, 47 test bulls averaged $734.47. The 88 bulls sold in the combined trial bull and Tri-County Hereford Breeders Association sale brought an average price of $667.56. In the 1969 sale, 77 bulls sold for an average of $689.56.

The high-priced bull in the Tri-County consignments was one offered by the Triangle One Ranch of Lompoc which sold to the Paraiso Hereford Ranch of Soledad for $1,150.

The 54 trial bulls had been on a rate-of-gain performance test here since Feb. 1. The trial is conducted co-operatively by the California Hereford Breeders Association and the Animal Science Department at the college.

All bulls in the sale were consensus graded by 25 commercial cattlemen prior to the auction. Results of the grading were compiled by the college Computer Center.

Pilot blames aircraft

WICHITA, Kan. (UPI)—The co-pilot of a chartered aircraft that crashed in the Colorado Rockies said today Wichita State University was flying its football team in the 20-year-old plane until a newer and larger model could be repaired for flight.

Ronald G. Skipper, 34, also President of Golden Eagle Aviation Inc., which supplied the crews for the school's football team flights, testified under oath at a federal investigation into the crash Oct. 2. Thirty persons were killed, including 13 football players, the team's head coach and its athletic director.

"To the best of my knowledge, the aircraft was being leased on a trip-to-trip basis until such time as the DC8 which Wichita State had originally intended to lease was repaired," Skipper said.

Selling-by-sex

Editor:

I realize the magnitude of the problems underlying the formation of the Movement. The myth is that the problems almost appear singular in origin. The culprit has always been the male oppressor-racist, sexist, warmonger, anti-feminist, capitalist-imperialist.

The response to the problem has to encompass as much a mobilization and organization of forces. It cannot entail merely the confinement of forces. It cannot entail merely the confinement to one facet of oppression with a simple cause-effect relationship and solution. Minimal means with limited ends would only aid the abolition of oppression in a particularistic sense and would hamper and fragmentize the Movement.

You can conclude that male oppression is only an integral factor in the perpetuation of female oppression and inequality. Members of both sexes bolster the subordinate role of women by consciously or unconsciously accepting the image mass media, advertising and consumerism have created for women. Consumer exploitation capitalizes on needs and fears which are brought to female consciousness by the mass media, to encourage her to buy. Consumption is thought to compensate for the needs and fears so women will not mobilize in attempt to attain intellectual autonomy and equality.

Ray Righetti seems to have missed the whole point of women's liberation. The point is there is a major difference between giving women equality of responsibility and giving women freedom of equality. Women do not want the responsibility to go to Viet Nam and to fight in wars. Wars are largely the creation of men anyway. Responsibility never was a criterion for male freedom so why should it exist for females? Commanding Officers are considered irresponsible to military needs and are in direct conflict with national ideals. Male drunks, derelicts, and welfare cases are also irresponsible but all maintain social sexual, moral, individual, and intellectual autonomy by virtue of their male identity.

Engineering is largest school

Paced by a burgeoning young Engineering Technology Department, the School of Engineering and Technology at California State Polytechnic College in San Luis Obispo has become the largest of seven academic schools at the college.

Some 2,580 of the 12,400 students who enrolled for Cal Poly's 1970 Fall Quarter last month registered in degree programs offered by the school, a nine per cent increase over last fall's figure.

Engineering and Technology Department, organized just over a year ago, has grown from a first quarter enrollment of 20 to 310 students this quarter, according to Dr. Archie Higdon, dean of the School of Engineering and Technology.

"This growth indicates just how critical and real a need has existed for this type program," Dean Higdon said. "Our transportation Engineering Department is another fast-growing one, but then almost all of our departmental programs have shown gains."

The Cal Poly School of Engineering and Technology consists of 10 departments including the newly-added Transportation Engineering Department. Each offers courses leading to the Bachelor of Science Degree in its specific area of interest.

Largest department in the school is the Electronic Engineering Department, which has 680 students enrolled in bachelor's degree curricula this fall.

In addition to the 10 curricula leading to the Bachelor of Science Degree, Cal Poly's School of Engineering and Technology has 21 students enrolled in a Master of Engineering program which is being offered for the first time this fall.

Prof busted for cars, pot

CUPERTINO (UPI) — Sheriff's deputies said today an automotive mechanics teacher at De Anza Junior College has been arrested for running a stolen car operation in the college auto shop.

They said the teacher, Kenneth Michael Delaney, 24, Los Gatos, would substitute the identification of wrecked cars for that of vehicles stolen from the college parking lot and resell them, specializing in Volkswagens and Porsches. He charged $250 for the VW's and $500 for the Porsches, they said.

Santa Clara County Sheriff's sergeants Al Infantino and Don Zies reported they had been working on the case under cover over the summer following the arrest of a motorist who was driving a sports car carrying license plates of a car wrecked in an accident.

Delaney and his girlfriend, Michelle Scheer, 21, arrested Wednesday and released on bail, face charges of auto theft and possession of marijuana and dangerous drugs.

Teacher review set

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Reagan administration plans an investigation at the 19 state college campuses to determine if teachers were being paid for classes they weren't teaching.

Finance Director Verne Orr disclosed Wednesday that the probe was "triggered" by the discovery that, at least one teacher and possibly more at California State College at Los Angeles had their classes taught by graduate students.

Orr said the situation at Cal State was uncovered at a Finance Department audit of the college's mathematics department. The inquiry was prompted by a tip from a teacher in the department, he said.

The state official said he plans an "intensive audit" of all other state colleges to determine if such practices are prevalent throughout the system. He said the practice was halted at the Cal State campus after auditors arrived there.

He said a team of auditors will be sent to San Francisco and Sacramento State Colleges Nov. 1. San Francisco State was singled out for an early audit because of an article on the problem in the school's newspaper," Orr said. He said there has been "past problems of this nature at Sacramento State."

The Cal State Los Angeles audit, Orr said, showed that Dr. Ernest Eckert, head of the mathematics department, was getting paid for teaching a class at Cal State which was held the same time as a class he was teaching at the University of Southern California.

Orr said a preliminary audit showed other teachers in the department were being paid for classes that were being taught by graduate assistants. He said the Cal State audit was expanded to all the school's faculty and a final report is due in December.

Students plan to build hilltop wilderness park

Amid the patterned order of the college sphere is a wilderness oasis awaiting landscape adaptation as a campus woodland park. Three students, two from Architecture and one from Ornamental Horticulture, are preparing a plan for utilizing the several acres of untouched campus land behind the Health Center and the President's Residence for a public gathering area.

Pine trees frame the picturesque natural beauty of the hilltop expanse. Once inside the small glen near the top of the hill, the sounds of the campus virtually disappear.

The three students, Bill Patterson, Pete Ketchum, and Jerry Yates, are culminating their three-way effort to provide a specific location for students to gather, take a rest between classes, or to walk amid the natural beauty of the park. The plan also proposes neatly landscaped footpaths, a botanical garden area, and a hillside amphitheater in the glen.

The student planners suggest an upcoming College Hour Concert can be held in the glen. In its present state, the hilltop tract has large rocks scattered about the sloping banks of the glen. The audience could sit on the hillside, on the rocks or on the banks, while the musicians entertain from the natural curved backdrop of the glen, the planners say.

Soviet Union expels American reporter

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union today expelled John Dornberg, the bureau manager for Newsweek magazine in Moscow, for "participation in an anti-Soviet provocation," the official news agency Tass said.

Dornberg was the third American correspondent expelled from or forced to leave the Soviet Union in the last four months. The others were Time correspondent Stanley Cloud and William Cole of the Columbia Broadcasting Corp.

Tass said Dornberg "took part in the passing out of anti-Soviet leaflets by a certain Olivier Morize and Anneli Coppel."

The news of his expulsion was a surprise to Dornberg.

"I know absolutely nothing about this," Dornberg said. "I have not been called by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, and the first I knew of it was when my Japanese neighbor brought me a copy of Tass."

The leaflet incident happened last week in Gum, the large Moscow department store. Morize and Miss Coppel were arrested and expelled from the Soviet Union.

"The Newsweek correspondent John Dornberg was told to leave the Soviet Union in connection with his participation in an anti-Soviet provocation," Tass said.

Foreign study program

A California State International Program's team will be on campus throughout the day Thursday, October 29, to interview students interested in applying for study abroad in the 1971-72 academic year. It was announced Tuesday by Dr. Thomas P. Lantos, programs' director.

The official State College academic unit for foreign study, the International Programs offers study opportunities at distinguished institutions of higher learning throughout the world, and draws its student body from all 19 campuses. Personal interviews are required of all applicants to help plan for the year abroad, which is limited to those who have attained upper division or graduate standing by the time of departure.

Application forms and information on the scheduling of interviews can be obtained on campus from Dr. Fuad Tellew, Professor of Economics, Business Administration and Education 136, a member of the International Program's Academic Council.

Among the largest of the contingents currently abroad, a total of 45 students from here are enrolled for the 1970-71 academic year at International Programs' study centers in Europe, the Middle East and Asia. In all, nearly 800 students are enrolled globally, with others also in Latin America, and study opportunities additionally offered in Africa.

Raiders head for Chico

The national championship rodeo team from this campus will be performing in Chico this weekend. The Mustangs are entered in the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association rodeo to be held at the Silver Dollar Fairground in Chico on Saturday and Sunday, October 24-25.

William Gibford, an Animal Science Department faculty member who is coaching the Mustangs, says four of those who participated in the national collegiate rodeo finals in Bozeman, Montana, in June, will represent the college at Chico.

They are Larry and Tom Ferguson of San Martin, Jerry Koile of San Luis Obispo, and Melvin Dick, Lakeview, Oregon.

Dick is the second-ranked collegiate cowboy in the nation. At the national finals he won the championship in saddle bronc and bareback bronc riding.

Tom Ferguson is the national champion ribbon and his brother was named all-round cowboy at the first Western Region rodeo of the 1970-71 season in Turlock last weekend.

The Mustangs have an all new women's team in the arena this year. Members of that group are Sharon Gill of Exeter, Linda Stockdale of O'Neals, and Colleen Simas of Auburn.

The Mustangs record last year was five and five and they would very much like to improve on that mark this campaign.

The booters have had a very short time to prepare for this meeting as they have only been practicing for two weeks.

Mustangs to meet Matadors

Crucial games on tap for 49er's and Raiders

UPI The San Francisco Forty Niners can do both themselves and the cross-bay Oakland Raiders a big favor this Sunday by beating Denver in San Francisco.

The Forty Niners would move up to 4-1-1 with a win over the Broncs, Division leader Los Angeles takes a 4-1 mark into Minnesota Monday night.

A Denver loss would leave them at 4-2 a top the Raiders' division and if the Raiders could then beat Pittsburg, they would move into the thick of things at 3-2-1.

The Forty Niners say linebacker Dave Wilcox and offensive guard Randy Beisler will be back in action Sunday, but defensive end Stan Hindman will miss one more game.

Pittsburgh doesn't figure to score many points against the Oakland Raiders Sunday, but the question is can the Raiders keep up their hot scoring pace against the Steelers?

The Steeler defense has allowed just 48 points in five games, lowest in the American Conference. But the Pittsburgh offense has just tallied 57 points.

Have the Mustangs recovered enough from the emotional defeat at the hands of Fresno State last week to win the Homecoming game against San Fernando Valley State?

This very crucial question is running through the minds of many people as the Valley State Matadors will be seeking revenge for the dumping the Mustangs gave them in their own stadium last year, 28-19.

Out of the last nine homecoming contests, the Mustangs have dropped six and won only three. Last year the loss was to Cal State Long Beach, 22-20. Coach Joe Harper's only Homecoming win during his career here was against the Matadors in 1968.

According to the Mustang Mentor, "We have to play a sound game against Valley State, one without errors." As the Mustang eleven learned during their game with Fresno, errors can be costly.

The game Saturday afternoon will be a homecoming, of sorts, for five Valley State Matadors. Three players have played football at Cuesta JC, one is from Lompoc and another is from San Luis Obispo.

Saturday's game is the first California Collegiate Athletic Association league game for the Mustangs, and a win could lead to a second consecutive league championship.

Mustang quarterback Don Milan is within a scant 90 yards of breaking a school record. With just the few yards Milan stands to break Gary Abate's career total offense record of 2,829 yards. Milan presently has 2,553 yards accumulated. He has rushed for 215 this season and passed for 598 yards in 57 tries and 28 completions. His total offense record for the season is 813 yards.

"If we continue to make mistakes," Harper commented, "the Matadors are good enough to beat us."

Cross country men to run on new Mustang course

Senior Greg Tibbetts leads the Mustang cross country team against Cal Poly Pomona in the first home meet of the year Saturday.

The meet starts at 11 a.m. and will be run over a newly designed 5.5 mile course which starts and finishes at the college's old track.

Tibbetts, who set a course record at the 4.1 mile course at Reedley last weekend, will be joined by Brian MacPherson, Wally McConnell, Rich and Russ Walline, Dale Horton and Frank Uher. All but the latter participated in the team championship at Reedley.

The meet was originally scheduled to include Westmont College, but will be run only as a dual meet against Pomona.
